POSMOL 2013

XVII International Workshop on Low-Energy Positron and Positronium Physics &
XVIII International Symposium on Electron-Molecule Collisions and Swarms
19-22 July, 2013, Kanazawa, Japan

ABOUT POSMOL 2013

The XVII International Workshop on Low-Energy Positron and Positronium Physics and the XVIII International Symposium on Electron-Molecule Collisions and Swarms will be held in Kanazawa Bunka Hall in Kanazawa, Ishikawa, Japan. We are looking forward to welcoming you to Kanazawa, one of the most picturesque and historic cities in Japan.

The XVII Workshop encompasses all aspects of positron, positronium and antiproton interactions with electrons, atoms, molecules and solid surfaces, and topics related to these.

The XVIII Symposium encompasses all aspects of electron interactions with molecules in both gaseous and condensed phases. Particular topics will include studies of electron interactions with biomolecules, electron induced surface chemistry and the study of plasma processes. Recent research in the study of swarms will also be highlighted.

Kenrokuen Garden

The Workshop and the Symposium will start with a welcome reception on Friday evening 19 July, and will end after lunch on Monday 22 July. They will be running in parallel with shared plenary sessions. The scientific programme consists of plenary sessions, invited talks and poster contributions. The registration fee gives access to any session of either satellite.

VENUE

POSMOL2013 will be held in Bunka Hall, which is located in the downtown of Kanazawa City, Japan. Kanazawa is the prefectural capital of Ishikawa Prefecture and located in the central part of the mainland of Japan. Komatsu Airport is the international airport closest to Kanazawa. There are domestic flights from Haneda, Narita, Sapporo, Sendai, Fukuoka and Naha. There are also International flights from Seoul, Shanghai and Taipei. Delegates can take a bus from Komatsu Airport to the downtown of Kanazawa-city (Korinbo) less than one hour. Kanazawa can be accessed from Tokyo and Osaka by trains easily.

Delegates travelling onwards to ICPEAC2013 in Lanzhou can consider flying out of Japan from Komatsu airport to Shanghai.
